

Paycent Adds DGGold™ to its Trading Platform Hybrid mobile app allows physical gold purchases via cryptocurrency

ADDISON, Texas (Dec. 13, 2018) – The global cryptocurrency market recently surpassed $50 billion in value, and commodities-based companies have begun to take notice.

Dillon Gage Metals, one of the world’s largest precious metals wholesale firms and industry-leading technology innovator, now offers DGGold, an uncomplicated and low-cost way for investors to own physical gold that is tracked by blockchain technology.

DGGold, which utilizes VaultChainGold powered by TradeWind, is 0.999 fine gold securely stored in the vaults of the Royal Canadian Mint. DGGold accounts are audited daily to ensure accuracy.

Paycent, a hybrid mobile app, is owned by Texcent Asia Pte Ltd – a Singapore-based FinTech company. The company recently launched its Paycent cards that allow users to cash out cryptocurrencies globally in real time. The Paycent app works as a mini exchange for users to convert cryptocurrency to fiat U.S. dollars and then push to card for usage.

“Investor interest in trading precious metals utilizing cryptocurrency is at an all-time high,” stated Mark Furmanek, chief operating officer of Dillon Gage. “Our alliance with Paycent will open new and exciting pathways for private investors, all while utilizing leading edge blockchain technology for physical gold ownership.”

In a key deal point formed in the alliance of Dillon Gage Metals and Paycent, users can buy gold using any of the cryptocurrency supported on Paycent’s platform. These include bitcoin, Ethereum, DASH, Litecoin, Binance Coin – or BNB – and Ripple.

The Dillon Gage Metals-Paycent alliance effectively combines “real-world” commodities such as physical precious metals and blockchain technology, demystifying the often complex and complicated world of cryptocurrency investing.
